The Challenges and Opportunities of Using Lean-Six Sigma with Non-Profit Organizations

Presented by: Paul Faculjak, Joni and Friends New Mexico

Many well-meaning quality and process improvement professionals may want to volunteer their time, skills and experience to benefit the causes and organizations close to their hearts. This presentation will offer case examples of both successful initiatives and lessons learned born out of frustrated efforts. You have a lot to offer the non-profit sector, so it is my goal to not only motivate you to serve using your God-given skills and talents, but to better prepare you for success.

LEARN

Presented by experts at the forefront of their field, sessions focus on skills and offers practical suggestions for applying them in real-world situations.

CERTIFICATION

Demonstrate your commitment to upholding quality standards and continued learning to earn Quality Certificate from the UNM Anderson School of Management
