

Quality Certificate Program

Are you keeping abreast of quality and organizational improvement best practices? In today’s competitive economy, organizations strive to continually achieve and sustain high quality and productivity levels. Learn how to help your organization accelerate their performance excellence journey.

The Albuquerque Quality Network, in partnership with UNM Anderson School of Management offers this engaging and educational program covering various ways quality principles help achieve and sustain quality and performance excellence. Included are quality principles which impact effectiveness of strategic planning and execution, customer engagement, organizational leadership and management, project management, continuous improvement processes and measures, and use of data and information to bridge organizational and operational/process performance.

Presented by experts at the forefront of the latest developments in their field, each session focuses on the skills necessary for the job and offers practical suggestions for applying these skills in real-world situations.

Registration fee: $50 for AQN Members, non-members need their organization to join AQN or become an individual member. Use this form to initiate participation towards each 12 hour (8 session) certificate level.
