Quality Jeopardy!

Join our game show host, and Sandia National Laboratories Principal Scientist, Dr. Ted Kreifels, in a fast-paced Jeopardy game highlighting Quality processes, measures, and tools. Meant to educate and entertain, this month's seminar is a quiz competition, applicable across all industries.

Show off your Quality knowledge and don't forget to frame your responses in the form of questions!

Theodore ("Ted") Kreifels is a weapon systems quality lead at Sandia National Laboratories. Ted has 30+ years of technical management and development experience, from contributing to original concepts to field-test demonstrations. He has served in technical quality roles such as requirements analysis, risk management, test planning, failure reviews, mishap investigations, and his all-time favorite work activity, root cause analysis. Ted is a retired Air Force officer, and earned a doctorate in physics. He is a former sailplane pilot, enjoys hiking and baseball, and is a trained dancer.
